Registration for International Auto Glass Safety Conference Now Open

Registration for the sixth annual International Auto Glass Safety Conference (the AGRSS Conference) is now open. The conference will be held October 27-28, 2010, in suburban Chicago so that those attending can also participate in the AGRSS Consumer Awareness Program (CAP) on October 28 at no additional charge.

The program includes two days of education and information, including presentations by a number of auto safety groups as well as noted auto safety expert Ben Kelley from the Center for Auto Safety. Other sessions will also focus on the results from the AGRSS validation program and how to maximize your involvement with AGRSS. The event is open to all in the auto glass industry (i.e., you do not have to be a part of AGRSS to attend).

The conference will take place at the Drury Lane Conference Center in Oakbrook Terrace, Ill., and hotel rooms are available at the adjacent Hilton Suites. For more information and to register, please visit <http://www.agrss.org/conference>.

The Auto Glass Replacement Safety Standards (AGRSS) Council Inc. is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to the safe replacement of auto glass. AGRSS was founded and is supported by companies in the auto glass replacement industry that keep safe installation as their primary goal. The Council is also accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) – a standard development organization – and has developed North America's only auto glass replacement standard, the AGRSS Standard (ANSI/AGRSS 002-2002). The AGRSS Standard addresses procedures, education and product performance for the proper replacement of auto glass.
