AGRSS LAUNCHES CONSUMER WEBSITE

The Automotive Glass Replacement Safety Standards (AGRSS) Council, Inc., has announced that it has launched its consumer website, www.safewindshields.com.

The website, designed for consumers looking to learn about safe auto glass installations and/or find AGRSS-registered installers to complete their work, went online in mid-November.

The website features a section where browsers can input their zip codes to find registered shops in their area, along with an area for insurers to learn more about the importance of a correctly installed windshield.

The Automotive Glass Replacement Safety Standards Council, Inc., is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to the safe replacement of auto glass. AGRSS was founded and is supported by companies in the auto glass replacement industry that keep safe installation as their primary goal.

AGRSS is an accredited American National Standards Institute (ANSI)-standards development organization. It has developed the world's only auto glass replacement safety standard, the AGRSS standard (ANSI/AGRSS 002-2002 Automotive Glass Replacement Safety Standard). The AGRSS Standard addresses procedures, education and product performance.

For more information about the Standard, visit www.agrss.com, or contact AGRSS administrator Rick Church at 630/942-6597.
